A Gang Control Strategy Summit for the Chief Executive and Command Staff

The Premier Strategic Planning Forum for Criminal Justice Executives, Command Staff, Educators, Intervention/Prevention Professionals, and Political Leadership

Phoenix, AZ, USA
January 23-26, 2011

Hosted by the National Alliance of Gang Investigators' Association
Arizona Gang Investigators Association

 A Chief Executive's & Commander's Leadership Forum ***

January 2011

The National Alliance of Gang Investigators' Associations (NAGIA) provides global leadership in developing and recommending strategies to prevent and control gang crime, administer professional training as well as assist criminal justice professionals and the public in identifying and tracking gangs, gang members and the gang crime around the world.

The purpose of this summit is to provide Chief Executives, Command Staff, Educators, and Prevention/Intervention professionals a forum where criminal justice and non-criminal justice professionals can discuss best practices, current trends and activities related to gangs and gang violence.

There will be individual “tracks” of instruction to accommodate the many disciplines of professionals that are needed to combat the war on gangs.

Who should attend this summit?

- Law Enforcement
- Prosecutors
- Mayors
- Corrections
- Judges
- State Attorney Generals
- Juvenile Justice
- Prevention & Intervention Specialist
- Educators
- Probation & Parole
- Legislators
- Military

This summit will be facilitated in a way that will maximize your ability to not only walk away with a better understanding of the scope of the gang problem but also better familiarize yourself with the best practices that are being used to effectively combat this threat.

In addition to the many courses of instruction, there will be facilitated discussion groups of which you can attend and participate in that will pertain to the many disciplines that are needed to establish an effective comprehensive gang strategy. Attendees after sharing ideas and participating in the classes and meetings will also receive a Summit Report on recommendations and discussion topics that were a result of this instructional and “working group” event. This work product can be utilized by attendees in assisting their overall strategy development to address the gang issues in their communities.

Summit Objectives

The National Alliance of Gang Investigators' Associations is proud to bring to you the 2011 World Gang Control Strategy Summit.

The NAGIA is the only alliance in the world that represents the associations of approximately 20,000 gang professionals world-wide and prides itself in providing and sharing strategies, policies, best practices, and expertise needed to effectively combat this threat to our communities; GANGS!

The 2011 World Gang Control Strategy Summit is being held in Phoenix, Arizona. This year's summit will provide some of the best practices pertaining to intelligence, enforcement, suppression, prosecution, prevention, and intervention that when combined will help create a comprehensive strategy to eliminate gangs and gang activity.

The goal of the National Alliance of Gang Investigators' Associations is to provide the best executive level training, informative gang trend briefings, and productive strategic planning meetings. This is accomplished within a location and atmosphere that maximizes each attendee's ability to meet other chief executives and thought leaders from all disciplines tasked with addressing this global threat. It will all attendees to share experiences, expertise, and current gang trends, which will provide you with invaluable strategic tools to apply to your agency's gang control strategies.
